Parliament

Constituencies

(currently 210)

Local level

Kenya Constitution illustrated (Nov 2009)

Senate

- One elected by each county assembly but not a member of the assembly
- Two women from each region elected by the regional assemblies
- One disabled person or youth from each region
- Speaker an ex officio member
- Total number: 74 + (2x8) + 8 + 1 = 98Senators)

Regional Assemblies (8)

- Three members from each county
- Governors & Deputy Governors elected from assembly members

County assemblies (74):

Rift Valley – 19 + Eastern – 13 + Nyanza – 12 + Western – 8 + Coast & Central – 7 each + North Eastern & Nairobi – 4 each Each county with members who are Councillors from each ward

Wards

- Councillors elected
- Political parties nominate an equal number to those elected
- Total number: currently 2,498 elected Councillors + equal number nominated = 4,996

National Assembly

- One from each constituency (at least 210)
- One woman from each county (each county comprising a single member constituency)
- 7 members persons with disabilities; with no more than 4 of the same gender (one term only)
- 7 members elected by marginalized communities, groups and workers (one term only)
- Speaker an ex-officio member
- Total number: (currently 210 + 74 + 7 + 7 + 1 = 299 Members)

Constituencies

(currently 210)

The Legislature

.../2

Legislature structure: some pluses & concerns heard thus far

Pluses

- Increased grassroots participation
- Devolved units have representation at national level

Concerns

- Multiple layers mean decisionmaking gridlock
- Cost of implementing and maintaining such a huge structure is too high
- Financing could be very problematic:
  - Regional assemblies do not have power to raise revenue
  - Counties can borrow but who bails them out when they can't repay?
- Lack of clarity: 8 regions or 14?
- We are at risk of creating ethnic balkans – powerful, self-governing regions whose boundaries largely follow ethnic concentrations

Legislative process

Executive

Legislature

State

President and Deputy President

Bill signed into law

Government

Prime Minister & Cabinet

Bill prepared and forwarded to Parliament for approval. Note: only Ministers can introduce money bills.

A Bill approved by both Houses of Parliament is forwarded to the State President for signing Bill moves between Houses of Parliament for approval

Chapter 12: The Executive

Implementing laws and policies

The Executive

National Executive

State

President and Deputy President

President

- Head of State
- Commander-in-Chief of the Kenya Defence Forces
- Chairperson of the National Security Council
- Symbol of national unity

President

- Elected through direct adult suffrage by secret ballot
- Not required to be member of a party

Government

Prime Minister & Deputy PM

Prime Minister

- Head of Government
- Directs and coordinates work of the ministries (between 15 & 20) and the preparation of legislation
- Responsible to Parliament
- Presides over Cabinet meetings

Prime Minister

• State President appoints the leader of the largest political party or coalition of parties represented in the National Assembly (NA). NA confirms.

The contentious executive: selection

Note: the State President does not have to be a member of a party & should not be a Member of Parliament

The contentious executive: power sharing

State President

C in C Defence forces

National unity symbol

Sign legislation & treaties Various appointments*

*Includes:

- The Cabinet: PM, DPM, Ministers and Deputy Ministers
- Judges of superior courts
- President approves after parliamentary or other approval

Kenya Constitution illustrated (Nov 2009)

Prime Minister

Head the Cabinet and supervise & coordinate Ministries: policy formulation & execution

*Note:

- Cabinet: minimum of 15 and maximum of 20
- Cabinet can include not more than 10 nonparliamentarians

Executive: some pros & cons heard thus far

Pros

- The all-powerful presidency is no more
- This arrangement is real power sharing
- Kenya needs a president who will be a true national symbol, not hung on party politics
- The system improves accountability: we watch what goes on in Parliament on TV but State House is opaque to us
- The parliamentary system should strengthen political parties and help to ensure discipline since the PM will want to pass legislation, etc

Cons

- The PM is now too powerful
- The State President gets a huge mandate from the popular vote and peanuts by way of real power
- The runner-up in a presidential election falls out of the picture because he/she cannot even be an MP
- A popularly elected President in charge of defence who disagrees with the PM could destabilise the country

Fiscal matters

Central Government

Executive State President Prime Minister

Houses of Parliament

Judiciary

Central government can levy taxes and borrow

County Government

County assembly

GovernorExecutive Committee

Counties can tax, borrow and guarantee loans for investors

Regional Government

Regional assembly

Regional DirectorExecutive Committee

Regions not empowered to tax but can borrow

Chapter 13: The Judiciary

Courts and legal system

The Judiciary

Supreme Court .../1

- Chief Justice is President of the Court
- Deputy Chief Justice is Vice President of the Court
- At least 5 but no more than 7 other judges

Constitutional Court

- An autonomous court
- No fewer than 5 judges
- Chief justice appoints the Principal Judge
- •There is no appeal beyond this court

Supreme Court .../2

- Proceedings require at least 5 judges
- Sits in Nairobi
- •Only the Supreme Court can hear State President impeachment cases

Court of Appeal

- Not fewer than 12 judges
- •Act of Parliament determines the actual number of judges
- Chief Justice appoints the President of the court

High Court

- Act of Parliament determines the number of judges
- •Chief Justice appoints the Principal Judge

Next steps and implementation

Coming milestones

- Window for comments closes on 14 December
- Committee of Experts (CoE) amends draft according to public feedback (21 days)
  - CoE hands over the draft to the Parliamentary Select Committee on the Constitution
- Parliament debates the document
- Referendum in March 2010
  - A referendum law is needed first
  - Yes or No to the entire document
- If Yes, the document is passed into effect in April 2010

Constitution timelines

Implementation

- The CoE have set a strict three-year timetable to fully implement the Constitution
  - It is contained in the legal schedule of the draft
- A Commission to oversee implementation will be established immediately the Constitution is enacted
- Parliament can only delay the schedule once
  - With a two-thirds majority
- If unauthorised delays occur, the Constitutional provisions require that the Chief Justice recommends dissolution of Parliament to the State President
